

Andrew Watson, MD, MLitt, FACS

*Vice President, Clinical Information Technology Transformation, UPMC
Physician, Division of Colorectal Surgery, Department of Surgery, UPMC
Medical Director, Telemedicine, UPMC*

As vice president of Clinical Information Technology Transformation, Dr. Andrew Watson assists UPMC International in developing innovative health information technology solutions to address the unique needs of UPMC's global partners.

International Roles/Experience

- Dr. Watson is part of the team leading the development of broad-scale information technology advisory services.
- He leads the international telemedicine strategy, leveraging both his clinical and technical skills.

Areas of Expertise

- Dr. Watson is a leader in applying health care technology to the delivery of high-quality, patient-centered medicine.
- He also plays a leading role in developing telemedicine strategy and technology across UPMC and serves on the board of the American Telemedicine Association.
- Dr. Watson is an expert international speaker on the transformation of health care highlighted by his UPMC experience.
- He is an expert inflammatory bowel disease surgeon focusing on minimally invasive approaches.

